Food for Thought the only 'not for profit' School Company –

In the UK that is owned by all our partner schools and any surplus created is shared amongst these schools – the Directors of the Company are all Head teachers and the Company was formed in 2005 with just six schools

FFT now have over 40 schools in its partnership -

Our Vision is; To provide a sustainable schools catering service for the benefit of children, parents, schools and local communities, particularly by offering fresh, nutritious and locally sourced food together with a healthier approach to eating; To increase an awareness and understanding of how diet and nutrition affects behaviour, performance and educational achievement in schools and communities. To ensure that all staff have the skills and support to consistently raise standards and receive a living wage that reflects their skills.

Our Objectives are;

- To maintain the cost of our school meals as the lowest in the City.
- To endeavour to increase the uptake of our school meal service, through the education of parents and children to the benefits of healthy, freshly prepared locally sourced foods.
- To provided cookery lessons for all pupils and parents
- To provide a commitment to all too continually improve our service through constant personal development. At FFT we value all our staff and all our customers i.e. school children; we cook meals using high quality fresh produce sourced locally; we support the principles of both organic farming and ethical livestock care. Visit our website on www.foodforthoughtliverpool.co.uk or tweet us on@fftliverpool
